

STANDING UP FOR JUSTICE

Around the United States and the world, people are holding demonstrations against the racial injustice and inequity that has been ingrained in our society for centuries. Add your voice to the collective call to action by creating messages of solidarity. Using words, images, symbols, and colors, explore what messages feel right for you on the signs below. If it's safe to do so, you can use your ideas on larger signs to hold at protests or display in your window. You can also use them to create social media posts supporting this movement for change.
